It has been referred to as a national crisis even one of global proportions. Simply stated, Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual and Transgender-identified young adults are killing themselves. Their sense of isolation in a world of such vast resources is, in itself, a tragedy. How is it their sense of the world has become so small Why have they not been able to find the rooms of the world in which lie hope I, too, struggled as a gay youth. I lived in two worlds, constantly in fear my secret would be uncovered, my strangeness revealed, my legitimacy and success as a young adult challenged, my accomplishments marred, and my confidence shaken. I felt like a fake. I wondered about my ability to live in such a world. In later years, it is the term Ally that came to life for me. It occurred in small ways. Allies, for me, were those friends and family members who supported me, accepted and loved me, who, alongside me, celebrated my life journey. They loved me, laughed and cried with me, gave me back the legitimacy I felt I would lose if I was different. I didn't feel different any more through them, I found our sameness. I thought about our differences less often, and somewhere along the way even forgot we were different or were we ever In a broader sense, allies make small groups of us bigger, stronger, more widely accepted. They identify with us, stand beside us, help our differences fade into the spaces around us. They give voices to those who cannot speak, legs to those who cannot walk. They find the sameness underneath our skins that unite us, and...
